VINITA, IND. TER., JULY 16, 1904.

No, son, Parker is not the author of Aesop's Fables.

Parker was nominated at sunrise, and will be elected at sunset in November.

It has been decided to allow the Igorrotes at the World's fair to dress in their native garb, which consists of a fig leaf.

The galleries were with Bryan at St. Louis but the convention was with Parker. But the galleries have more votes than the convention.

The money question has been settled and isn't worth while to get mad about it. The money question is not a political issue. There is no money question.

Ex-Chief Sam Mayes' scheme to compromise the intermarried citizens case met with so much opposition among that class of citizens that it has been abandoned.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad company has issued and distributed an elegant booklet, entitled "Sights and Scenes in Old Mexico, the Egypt of the new world."

Another great man has come from the farm. Judge Alton B. Parker was born and grew up on the farm and afterwards taught school to pay his way in a college. These red-cheeked boys from the country are the fellows that move the world.

A LAND OF HOME OWNERS.

One thing Oklahoma may boast of is her homes, says the Kansas City Journal. In but one state in the Union—North Dakota—do so large per cent of the people own their homes as in Oklahoma. The census of 1900 shows that 71.5 per cent of its people own their homes. This is a better showing than was made by the adjoining states. In Kansas only 50.1 per cent of the people owned their homes. In Arkansas 47.7 per cent of the people owned their homes, and in Texas 46.5 per cent of the people owned their homes. Compared with the Eastern states the showing of Oklahoma is still more favorable. In Massachusetts only 35 per cent of the people own their homes. In New York 33½ per cent, and in Rhode Island 28.6 per cent of the people owned their homes. Moreover, in no state is there so large a percentage of the homes free of mortgage and debt as there are in Oklahoma. The census of 1900 shows that 63.5 per cent of the families of Oklahoma have homes free from mortgages and debt. Twenty-eight and two-tenths per cent of the families are living in rented homes, but only 8.3 per cent of the families living in their own homes had them mortgaged.

THE MOTHER'S VIEW AND THE WIFE'S.

The incident of the nomination of Judge Parker for the presidency and the remark of his aged mother upon the news being told to her recalls the deathless fact that to his mother the grown man always seems to be her boy. The idea of Mrs. Parker was that she was glad Alton was nominated on the first ballot. The next thought was that she believed he would make a good president if elected. But the belief was not bolstered by any idea that the people could know of his abilities.

It is the same with all mothers of grown boys. They do not appreciate the fact that their boys are grown up and big men to other people. For to the mother of the boy, however big, he will always be her boy. She cannot see him as the other people see him. If the boy is a prominent and honored man to his neighbors he is just her boy to his mother. If he be reviled and imprisoned by his fellows he is still her boy and she can not see the gravity of his offense in her love for him and her readiness to forgive him for any little lapses.

To the wife of the man the situation is different. He has in her eyes all of the attributes of strength and heroism. She sometimes sees the weak places in him that no mother could ever do, but she never overlooks the fact that he is capable of much greater things to do than the world ever sees in him. If he happens to be a public man she knows that he would be better in the executive office than any other man. If he is a business man she feels sure that his business should be the biggest in the city.

The man who has a mother to love him and have confidence in him and fear for him after he has grown up is a safe man—if he remembers her. The man who has the inspiration of a wife who believes that to him all things are possible is doubly safeguarded, and the man who has both the mother who loves her boy and the wife who adores her husband never fully appreciates what he has to be glad of.

The mother has qualms for her boy as he mounts the ladder, fearing he will fall.

The wife recognizes that he is doing just what she has long known he could do.—State Capital.

Dangers of White Lead.

German papers state that the French government is at present considering the question of the use of white lead and other lead mixtures for painting houses. A committee of the chamber of deputies has been appointed to investigate the matter, and Mr. Breton, one of the experts, has been authorized to publish the results of his investigation in pamphlet form. He condemns the addition of white lead to paints and all colors containing it, declaring them to be poisonous in a large degree, both for the workman and for the inhabitants of a house painted with lead colors. He recommends the use of zinc white instead, which, for surfaces exposed to the sea air, is also much more practical. He expresses the opinion that the absolute disease of white lead has become an impera-
